Class

Wednesdays & Fridays 1:30-2:45, Dowling Hall Milmore Room

Course Goals

The purpose of Hamilton: In Context is to analyze the life story of Alexander Hamilton—immigrant, scholar, soldier, founding father, economist, scoundrel. Hamilton's unique position among the Founding Fathers rose to recent national prominence through Lin Manuel Miranda's Hamilton: An American Musical in 2015. While the play pioneers new territory in musical theater genre, Hamilton's biography has captured the imagination of millions, reignited interest in the American Revolution and the humanity behind many familiar names represented in dusty textbooks. Hamilton: In Context seeks to answer these questions: Why care about a person who lived 260 years ago? What can his struggles and accomplishments show us about modern American politics and society? What do we learn from this particular founding father's history and life? How does Lin-Manuel Miranda's medium influence our sense of Hamilton's relevance? Why him? Why now?

Required Texts and Materials

Alexander Hamilton by Ron Chernow
Hamilton: An American Musical (Original Broadway Cast Recording)

These and additional course materials—including Hamilton: The Revolution, by Lin-Manuel Miranda and Jeremy McCarter and case studies—will be available for shared use on Reserve at Tisch Library.

Respect and Discourse

Given the discussion-based nature of this course, we will foster an environment of respect for the opinions, beliefs and viewpoints of all course participants and guest speakers. Some exchange regarding issues may include disagreement based on ideas but must not demean the characters or background of the individuals holding those ideas. We ask that all class participants engage in minimal technology use in order to foster an engaged working and learning environment.

Grade Breakdown

30% Participation
30% Response Papers (2)
40% Final Presentation

Percentage	Grade	Percentage	Grade	Percentage	Grade	Percentage	Grade
96-100	A+	86-89.9	B+	76-79.9	C+	66-69.9	D+
93-95.9	A	83-85.9	B	73-75.9	C	63-65.9	D
90-92.9	A-	80-82.9	B-	70-72.9	C-	60-62.9	D-

Anything below a 60% will incur a failing letter grade (F)—though we are sure none of you will find yourselves in this position.

1.0 point of extra credit will be given to participants who attend the Patriot's Day reenactment in Lexington.

Papers

Class participants will submit two (2) 750-1000 word response papers by 16 February and 14 March further engaging questions raised in the course discussion. Discussion prompts will be given during class; papers are to be written in Times New Roman, 12 pt., and double spaced.

Plagiarism

Tufts has a strict plagiarism policy, so give credit where credit is due! For the two papers you will be writing in class, you will use TurnItIn in Trunk to help determine the originality of your work. When papers are submitted to TurnItIn, the service will retain a copy of the submitted work in the TurnItIn database for the sole purpose of detecting plagiarism in future submitted works. Students retain copyright on their original course work. For additional information regarding Tufts' plagiarism policies, please refer to:

<https://students.tufts.edu/student-affairs/student-life-policies/academic-integrity-policy>

Student Presentations

Student presentations will consist of twenty (20) minute presentations (in the delivery style of your choice) on any topic either not covered in class (i.e. anything else regarding Hamilton) or expanding further into a specific topic that we discussed.

Absences

Given this course is participation and discussion based, it is imperative you attend every class meeting. Two (2) absences will be allowed before additional absences begin affecting your grade. For each additional absence, 0.5 points of your final grade will be deducted.

Unforeseeable events may always occur and put you in difficult situations that may require you to miss class. In a situation in which you find it impossible to attend class, reach out to both of us and let us know of your absence. Absences due to illness will be excused with appropriate documentation.

Class Schedule Details and Assignments - Subject to change

Hamilton: In Context

Week 0, Friday 19 January

In which we go over the class syllabus and talk about fundamental questions for the class.

Hamilton: The Immigrant

Week 1, Wednesday 24 January & Friday 26 January

In which we analyze the story of Hamilton as an immigrant from the Caribbean. His background and upbringing and how that shaped who he was later in life. How does late 18th Century discourse compare to present day politics and rhetoric regarding Muslims, xenophobia, refugees, and immigration in the United States? Did his immigrant status affect his relationship to the other founding fathers and his place in history?

Readings: Hamilton, p. 7-61

Songs: Alexander Hamilton, My Shot

Mulligan: The Spy

Week 2, Wednesday 31 January

In which we look into Hercules Mulligan's role in the plot to overthrow the English rule and broader revolutionary spy networks. How did the Culper Ring and early espionage networks of the Revolution shape its outcome? How was this a precursor to active citizenship as part of the American identity?

Readings: Chernow's Hamilton p. 62-126,

University of Michigan Clements Library: Spy Letters of the American Revolution:

<http://clements.umich.edu/exhibits/online/spies/index-main2.html>.

Songs: Aaron Burr, Sir, Yorktown (The World Turned Upside Down)

Lafayette: The French Aid

Week 2, Friday 2 February

In which we analyze the role of Marquis de Lafayette as a foreign aid to the efforts of Independence. We will analyze his relationship with the Founding Fathers and the promises that were made for the French Liberation movement. How did personal relationships inform early US diplomacy and how do they influence international relations today?

Readings: Hamilton, p. 126-218

Songs: Guns and Ships, Yorktown (The World Turned Upside Down), Cabinet Battle #2

Laurens: The Abolitionist

Week 3, Friday 9 February

In which we examine John Laurens as an early abolitionist who advocated for racial equality in South Carolina and the US. How did he influence Hamilton and Washington's views on slavery?

Readings: Hamilton, p. 220-290, "On the Origin and Persistence of Our National Shame", p 207, Hamilton, the Revolution.

Songs: Aaron Burr, Sir, The Story of Tonight

Washington: The Resilient

Week 4, Wednesday 14 February & Friday 16 February

In which we discuss the General and First President's leadership and growth through failure and frustration, including the Continental Army's disastrous retreat in the Battle of Brooklyn. How did George Washington, the real person, learn from failure? How did it impact his decision-making and resiliency?

Readings: Chapter 21 "Disaster" of Chernow's Washington, a Life.

Songs: Right Hand Man, Meet Me Inside, History Has Its Eyes On You, One Last Time

Angelica: The Implacable

Week 5, Wednesday 21 February

In which we examine the influence of Angelica Schuyler Church on the new republic and on Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson. How did Schuyler shape and influence American policies from the role she occupied? How is her portrayal in Hamilton an American Musical influenced by the gender norm of her time and by today's?

Readings: Klotz, Kelsey "Hamilton is Innovative, but not Quite Revolutionary."

February 2017 The Common Reader:

<https://commonreader.wustl.edu/c/hamilton-innovative-not-quite-revolutionary/>,

"Hamilton," The Feminist Spectator, February 24, 2016:

<http://feministspectator.princeton.edu/2016/02/24/hamilton/>

Did They or Didn't They? p. 164-167 of Hamilton The Revolution

Songs: The Schuyler Sisters, Satisfied, Take a Break

Eliza: The Stalwart

Week 5, Friday 23 February

In which we discuss Eliza Hamilton's role in Hamilton's life and her portrayal in Hamilton an American Musical. In what ways and why did she "write herself out of the narrative" and then put herself back in? How did the Reynolds Papers scandal set precedent in American tabloids and political intrigue? To what extent is Eliza's portrayal sympathetic, complex, and reflective of gender roles of her time and our own?

Readings: p. 526-542, 640-656, 695-709, 721-731

Songs: The Schuyler Sisters, Helpless, That Would Be Enough, Take a Break, Burn, The Reynolds Papers, It's Quiet Uptown, Best of Wives and Best of Women, The World Was Wide Enough

Burr: The Archenemy

Week 6, Wednesday 28 February & Friday 2 March

In which we discuss Aaron Burr's role as a rival in Hamilton's life, including Burr's relative caution and vacillation on political issues. Analyze Burr's role in early US presidential elections, particularly the election of 1800. In the soundtrack and show, how is his role as villain complicated by his outsider status? Is he a sympathetic character?

Readings: Hamilton, p. 607- 722

Songs: Aaron Burr, Sir, Wait For It, Dear Theodosia, The Room Where It Happens, The Election of 1800, Your Obedient Servant, The World Was Wide Enough

Hamilton: The Rapper

Week 7, Wednesday 7 March & Friday 9 March

In which we analyze music as a medium to bring history and culture to the masses and why Lin-Manuel Miranda approached the musical with many different genres. How do we contextualize Hamilton an American Musical within musical theater history? We will dig deeper into the references to Broadway and Classic 1990s rap.

Readings: Hamilton, The Revolution

Songs: My Shot, Guns and Ships

Hamilton: The Human

Week 8, Wednesday 14 March

In which we analyze Hamilton outside of work, his lack of work-life balance and what that implied for his mental health—and the role of mental health, delusion, and stress in the early republic and in the current political scene.

Readings: TBD

Songs: Non-Stop, Take a Break, Say No To This, The Adams Administration, Hurricane

No Class Friday 16 March — Spring Recess

Hamilton & Miranda: The Writers

Week 9, Wednesday 28 March

In which we analyze both: Alexander Hamilton as a writer, what he wrote and his purpose; and analyze Lin-Manuel Miranda's work and his creative journey to transform Chernow's biography into the groundbreaking Broadway production.

Readings: Elberse, A, and Schoppe, J., Hamilton an American Musical, Case Study, July 2016, Harvard Business Review

Songs: Non-Stop, Take a Break, The Reynolds Pamphlet

Guest Lecturer: Megan McCormick

Week 9, Friday 30 March

In which alum Megan McCormick discusses how the historical era in which the show is set, the years in which the piece was written, and the cultural moment in which the show is performed all have an effect on the way in which the material is interpreted.

Materials:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bNfTONoEfWI>

*Breaking the Silence on Violence in the Musical Chicago : Ethical Implications of Discussing Problematic Material to Promote Positive Change by Megan McCormick
*Latin American Baroque: performance as a post-colonial act?

These two readings can be found on Trunk in The Anthology folder.*

Jefferson: The Machinist

Week 10, Wednesday 4 April

In which we analyze who the real rival is in the Hamilton story.

Readings: Hamilton, p. 419-430, 448-457 and Washington, A Life, p. 669-683, 711-718

Songs: Right Hand Man, What'd I Miss, Cabinet Battle #1

Hamilton: In Movement

Week 10, Friday 6 April

In which we explore political movements and change of political thought from the early days of America, to the Civil Rights Movement led by Martin Luther King, Jr., to the March for Our Lives movement led by the survivors of the Stoneman Douglas High School shooting.

Listen: NPR Podcast Hidden Brain, episode: E Pluribus Unum? from 8 January 2018

1 Songs: Wrote My Way Out from The Hamilton Mixtape

Hamilton: An American Musical

Week 11, Friday 13 April

In which we analyze the musical given the knowledge we have gained. We describe theatre as safe spaces and overview the different musical styles utilized in the show and their relevancy to specific instances/characters.

Readings: Mead, Rebecca, "The Renewed Relevance of Hamilton" The New Yorker, November 16, 2016

Songs: The Whole Soundtrack

Student Presentations

Weeks 12 & 13 – 18 and 25 April

Hamilton: Who Tells Your Story?

Week 13, Friday 27 April

In which we reflect on the themes raised in the course and understandings gained.
